

CLEO

English Lester cross merino sheep

Cleo is an English Lester cross Merino sheep. She was found on the side of the road with her lamb. Cleo was tethered at the front of a property and when she broke the chain and escaped, her owners did not bother to look for her.

When RSPCA Inspectors finally located the owners, they no longer wanted Cleo or her lamb. Cleo's lamb went to a good home, and Cleo stayed at the RSPCA to work in the Education Centre.

Cleo is shorn twice a year and at each shearing yields approximately 4 kilograms of fleece.
